

A Junior Achievement program designed specifically to educate and empower girls and young women.

JA Girl$ with Young Athenas

Junior Achievement and the Young Athenas are teaming up to bring the JA Girl$ program to girls and young women in the Bowling Green area. The Young Athenas of Bowling Green is a prestigious group of young professionals who have received the Young Athena award through the Chamber of Commerce. These women will present the programs and will serve as strong, positive, role models to the girls and young women who attend the JA Girl$ event on March 11, 2020 at SKYCTC.

Girls Have Questions

No one in my family has gone to college, so how can I? I don't know the steps for applying for college or financial aid.

How do I write a resume?

What do I do now?

How will I multi-task? How can I go to school and work?

How are business women supposed to dress?

How do I dress for an interview?

How can I find a job?

Social media won't affect my job search, right?

How can this event help me?

JA Girl$ Has Answers

The students who participate in the JA Girl$ program will spend the day being mentored by professional, successful women in our community, learning about branding themselves and being aware of how they present themselves to the world, career interests and pathways, high growth careers, resumes and job applications, keeping a job, and options for after high school.
